

Pink Lemonade

Pink lemonade
That of lemons, avulsed of juice
That of pigmentation, ersatz of origin
Upon an Applewood crate it rests
Heavens spilling upon it
Gleaming

Clouds,
Rainfall,
Plinth stained by droplets
Piercing vulnerable wood
Repleted crags of erroneousess

Pink lemonade
Lost in waxing dusk
Resting upon a tarnished dais
Diluted of avulsed juice; diluted of ersatz pigmentation
Diluted of truth
Avoid of forthrightness

Written by Henry Warzecha
Brooks School