

The Oneness of Man

As I once read
As Malcolm X once said
Maybe accepting the oneness of God
Might make us discover the Oneness of man
Racist comments, rampant they ran
And how about the Ku Klux Klan
And how can color separate humanity
Is color really our vanity
Why do we preach integration
But practice segregation
As I once read
As Malcolm X once said
Maybe accepting the oneness of God
might make us discover the Oneness of man
Racist comments, rampant they ran
Slavery and racism should have never began
Made different races in different lands
With different faces and different hands
And realize what matters is in our hearts
Compassion and kindness is where it starts
As I once read
As Malcolm X once said
Maybe accepting the oneness of God
might make us discover the Oneness of man
Or if your is skin dark or light
Doesn't give more rights just cause your white
Once we realize who has supreme authority
The police will stop suppressing the minority
As I once read
As Malcolm X once said
Maybe accepting the oneness of God
might make us discover the Oneness of man
Racism, through history it ran
To end it is our ultimate plan
Equality the world it should span
From Iran to Japan
Many have tried in the past
But there was only one man who made it last
Using his steps and strategies that he had planned
Not through a simple command
As I once read

As Malcolm X once said
Maybe accepting the oneness of God
might make us discover the Oneness of man

*Written by Talha Kamran
Brooks School*